Food Safety Culture

- Promote food safety culture throughout the food system
  - Review literature and conduct research to determine approaches to influence attitudes and behavior
  - Advance food safety culture and behavioral science principles as a critical component of food safety work
  - Engage with industry and consumer stakeholders, as well as trusted regulatory partners at all levels of government, to develop and disseminate effective tools and approaches
- Promote food safety culture throughout FDA
  - Education and training of FDA's staff, alignment on values and mission
  - Exploring ways to assess and take food safety culture in account for risk prioritization (e.g., inspection frequency)
- Consumer education campaigns
  - Utilize new food safety technology and leverage tech-enabled mediums and tools, such as Smart Home devices, smart phones, and digital platforms, to promote food safety culture at home
